THE SENATE.

In Session but Fifteen Minutes and Nothing Important Done.

The Senate held the briefest session since it organized, yesterday. A communication was received from the Governor correcting his messages He had stated that the World's fair deficit was authorthat the World's fair deficit was authorsed and since the temper of the Legislasize and the people on this matter has been felt, the Governor, who is a member of the commission, hastened to assure the Senate that what he meant to say was that the deficit was unauthorized.

A concurrent resolution, presented by Senator Lewis, was presented, calling on the Attorney-General to furnish an opinion as to the liability of the state in the bounty frauds and if possible to recover sums paid out by the State Treasurer on this account.

The resolution also charges collusion and corruption on the part of officers in

It was believed a number of bills would be presented yesterday that were being prepared, but the Senators withheld them. Senator Larsen of the special committee to inquire into the World's fair deficit and accounts said no report was ready. The committee will meet again Thursday, when it is assured the commission will be prepared to exhibit an itemized account of expenditures and the proper vouchers. This matter is now causing much uncasiness in the Legislature lest a satisfactory accounting be not made.

THE HOUSE.

Two Bills Are Made Special Orders for Future Consideration.

To make haste slowly is evidently the policy of the House when it comes to the passage of bills. Two measures came up on third reading yesterday and both were made special orders for future see-bill was made a special order for next Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Judge Kinney's resolution for the sub-mission of an amendment to the State Constitution abolishing the tax on mort-gages came up on third reading and was made a special order for 3 o'clock tomor-row afternoon.

Favorable Reports.

Favorable Reports.

Several bills were reported favorably by committees. House bill 25, by Kinney, creating a commission to promote uniform legislation; House bill 44, by the same author, making it forgery to insitate a clearance card or union label, and House bill 45, also by Kinney, making the time for undertakings on appeal from justices's courts five days, were approved by the Judiciary committee. They will come up on third reading today.

Wilson of Wasatch found some difficulty in keeping track of the amendments recommended by the committee, and on his motion the committees were instructed to have typewritten copies of proposed amendments made and pasted in the files of the members.

amendments made and pasted in the files of the members.

An invitation from the board of governers of the Commercial club to the members of the House to use the clubrooms for committee meetings was accepted with thanks. An invitation to attend the mass meeting in favor of the initiative and referendum at Federation hall was filed without any comment.

Triumph for Joseph.

Triumph for Joseph.

Representative Joseph scored a triumph when a special message from the Governor was read, in which the Executive announced that the printing in his message of the St. Louis fair deficit as a deficit authorized by the State Board of Examiners, was an error. It was Joseph who called attention to the presence of the deficit in the list of authorized deficits, and moved to strike it out of the record. The House decided to consult the Governor before making such a radical change in his "copy" Joseph, Thompson and Stockey were appointed to call on him, and his message yesterday was the answer. The House then proceeded to strike the item from the list of authorized deficits. Later in the afternoon the subject was Later in the affermoon the subject was revived by a supplementary communica-tion from the Governor, in which it was stated that the World's Fair item should be listed in his message as an unauthor-ized deficit.

House in a Flutter.

House in a Flutter.

This threw the House into a flutter, and a dozen schemes were proposed to accomplish the simple matter of transferring the item from the authorized to the unauthorized deficits. Joseph gave a tip as to his future line of action by telling Wilson of Wassatch that it was a question in his mind whether the extra $10.000 spent by the fair commission was a State deficit or not.

The momentous problem was finally solved by the placing of the item one line higher in the table of deficits prepared by the Governor.

Viewed With Suspicion.

Viewed With Suspicion.

An air of suspicion permeated the House when concurrent resolution No. 1, as amended by the Senate, was returned. The original resolution was prepared by the John committee on bounty frauds. It called upon the State Auditor to request all county clerks in the State to discontinue the issuance of bounty certificates, pending the completion of the investigation, and to send in to the Auditor a complete report of all bounty transactions in their offices. The Senate changed the phraseology of the resolution, adding greatly to its length. The House members, many of whom are abnormally touchy on the subject of bounties, feared bers, many of whom are abnormally touchy on the subject of bounties, feared that there might be a negro in the timthat there might be a negro in the timber and some wanted to postpone consideration until the amended resolution was printed. McCrea, of the Joint committee, assured the House that no material alteration had been made by the Senate. Richards of Davis said he had heard a Senator say that the House would never pass the bill as amended. This, in Mr. Richards's mind, was a very suspicious circumstance, affording almost positive evidence that there was something crocked about the resolution.

There was a desultory debate, after which the resolution was read. During the roll-call, Joseph refused to vote. Mr. Fishburn insisted.

"Well, I will go with the majority. I vote 'aye,' 'said Joseph.

By request Speaker Hull added the Committee on Elections to the Committee on Municipal Affairs for the consideration of Fishburn's bill No. 32, changing municipal elections to even years. The House adjourned at 4 p. m. Eight new bills and one joint memorial were introduced at the session.

Austin's New Bill.

Austin's New Bill.

H. B. No. 59, by Austin, creates a State Board of Park Commissioners to consist of the Governor and four members ap-pointed by him for four years. The board is to have full control of all State parks. The bill makes it a misdemeanor to remove timber or permit stock to run on such lands. The sum of $2500 is appropri-ated annually for this purpose. Mr. Austin has also introduced a memo-

Mr. Austin has also introduced a memorial asking Congress to open the Ulntah reservation in March and to set aside Strawberry valley in that reservation to be used perpetually as a State park.

Mr. Austin says in behalf of his bill and memorial, that the good camping grounds in the State will soon be taken up by settlers and stockgrowers if something is not done to prevent it. Hence he proposes to set aside the Strawberry valley perpetually as a summer resort for the public.

Kuchler's bill, No. 60, provides for the establishment of a central experiment station in connection with the Southern Utah Experimental farm. It is to be conducted under the direction of the Agricultural College Experiment station. The trustees of the college are authorized to purchase not less than 80 acres of land accessible by railway. The work of the station shall be devoted to experiments and demonstrations having in view the horticultural and agricultural interests of all sections having cilmatic conditions similar to those prevailing in the series of vafleys from Collinston, Box Eider county to Juab, Juab county. The bill appropriates $25,00 for the station and $500 for the Southern Utah Experiment farm. Carroll's bill, H. B. BRYAN ARGUES OWN CASE.

Thinks There Was No Doubt of Bennett's Desire to Leave Him $50,000.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 24-Arguments were heard in the Connecticut of their original investment, Court of Errors today on the appeal of William J. Bryan from the decision of the Superior court, denying him authority to receive $50,000 mentioned in the famous sealed letter left by the late Philo S. Bennett, of whose estate Mr. Bryan is sealed letter left by the late Philo S. Bennett, of whose estate Mr. Bryan is executor.

Mr. Bryan spoke eloquently for three-quarters of an hour. He said it was due him in this case to say a few words as to the intent of the testator. This intent, he thought, was very plain, and he hoped the court would be explicit as to whether the sealed letter could be received as a declaration of trust, even if not a part of the will. He said that most will contests turned on two or three questions, usually on the capacity of a testator to make a will, on the question of undue influence, or on the latent of the testator in making bequests. In this case he thought Mr. Bennett ideally competent to make a will. As to the question of undue influence, he cited the fact that Mr. Bennett traveled 1500 miles to Nebraska, carrying with him a will to be used as a model, and afterwards traveled 1500 miles back to New York, where he duly executed the will. The question, therefore, turns on the intent of the testator.

Mr. Bryan, referring to his personal interest in the case, said:

"I trust that the conclusion of this court will be so explicit that it will be instructive to all who hereafter draw wills. No matter what this court may think of the purposes of this bequest, the right of a man to make his property go to the person or for the purposes he wishes is sacred to us all."

Bill Clerk Kills Wife and Himself

Young Couple Found in Their Rooms With Love Letters Scattered About -He Was Out of Work.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.-In a cottage on Stanton street some time today or during last night, E. L. Jameson, formerly of Portland, Or., and until recently billing clerk for J. K. Armsby & Co., killed his young wife, then shot himself through the head, inflicting a wound which probably will prove fatal.

The dead body of Mrs. Jameson and the unconscious form of her husband were discovered by the owner of the house in which they lived. A number of love letters which had passed between the couple were found on the floor. Mrs. Jameson, formerly Georgia Nellson, was a pretty woman, scarcely 20 years old. Papers left in the house indicated that she came here from Fortland about six months ago, when she was married.

Jameson secured employment, but lost his position at the end of last year. He has since tried to obtain work, but without success.

Tideombe left Portland suddenly a year ago, it is said, owing to financial difficulties with an oyster company by whom he had been employed.

Since that time he has been in constant correspondence with his family. In a letter received a month ago, Tidcombe said hat he was completing his work of examining the books of the J. K. Armsby company and would soon have to seek otheromployment, but made no mention of straightened circumstances.

Why he lived under an assumed name in San Francisco is a matter of conjecture among his relatives here. Charles Tidcombe, father of the young man, will leave for California tomorrow to take charge of the remains.

Bear Sir:

Jan. 11th, 1904.

"Ever since I was in the army, I had more or less kidney trouble, and within the past year it became so severe and complicated that I suffered everything and was much alarmed—my strength and power was fast leaving me. I saw an advertisement of Swamp-Root and wrote asking for advice. I began the use of the medicine and noted a decided improvement after taking Swamp-Root only a thort time.

I continued its use and am thankful to pay that I am entirely cured and strong.

I continued its use and am thankful to say that I am entirely cured and strong. The same of my water roday and he pronounced it all right and in splendid condition.

I know that your Swamp-Root is purely regetable and does not contain any harmful drugs. Thanking you for my complete recovery and recommending Swamp-Root is purely cents and one dollar.
